The faculty development programme will provide opportunity for teachers in upgrading their knowledge in the recent innovations in mechanical engineering. This program provides a basic platform to carryout research. On-going research in the design of aero engines, rotor-bearing systems, as well as other issues like composite materials, intelligent manufacturing, and computational fluid dynamics etc. have to be discussed on a national level consortium to cope-up with international developments. This three-day event will provide a forum to present several related issues.

Resource Persons

Experience faculty members from IIT/NIT's and various reputed universities are invited to deliver the interactive sessions.
