Title of the Event	Farmers Awareness on Plantation, Cultivation, Pesticides & Fertilization
Event Start Date:	1/2/2024
Event End Date:	1/2/2024
Number of participants	50
Description	After The Camp inauguration as per event the scheduled National Service Scheme (NSS) organized a comprehensive Agriculture related campaign in Vinjanampadu with the aim to improve Plantations, cultivation, pesticides, fertilization. In recent years, agricultural practices have undergone significant transformations due to technological advancements, climate change, and evolving consumer preferences. Among these changes, increasing awareness among farmers regarding plantation cultivation, pesticide usage, and fertilization has become paramount. This report aims to assess the current status of farmer awareness in these domains and suggest strategies for enhancement. Current State of Farmer Awareness: Plantation Cultivation: Many farmers are familiar with traditional cultivation methods but may lack awareness of modern techniques such as precision farming, crop rotation, and intercropping. Pesticides: Awareness of pesticide types, proper application methods, and potential environmental and health hazards varies widely among farmers. Some may rely heavily on chemical pesticides without considering alternatives or safety measures. Fertilization: While most farmers understand the importance of fertilizers for soil fertility and crop yield, there is a need for greater knowledge regarding nutrient management, soil testing, and organic alternatives. Challenges and Barriers: Limited Access to Information: Farmers in remote areas or with limited resources may struggle to access educational materials, workshops, or training programs.

Economic Constraints:

Cost-effective alternatives to chemical pesticides and fertilizers may be perceived as financially burdensome or less effective, discouraging their adoption.

Cultural and Behavioral Factors: Traditional farming practices deeply rooted in cultural norms and beliefs may hinder the acceptance of modern techniques or sustainable alternatives. Strategies for Enhancement:

Educational Campaigns:

Government agencies, agricultural extension services, and NGOs can collaborate to organize workshops, seminars, and awareness campaigns targeting farmers at the grassroots level.

Knowledge Exchange Platforms: Establishing online forums, mobile applications, and community networks can facilitate knowledge sharing among farmers, extension workers, and agricultural experts.

Event Start Date	03-02-2024
Event End Date:	03-02-2024

Description	On 03-02-2024 The National Service Scheme (NSS) organized a campaign in " Vinjanampadu" village to bring awareness and enrich knowledge of village people by launching an effective program which mainly focuses on "CYBER SECURITY" that is beneficial and sometimes dangerous too in real time scenario. The main objective of NSS initiative towards "CYBER SECURITY" is, to let people know about huge scams and frauds that are taking place these days. We engaged with village people in a friendly manner and explained about cyber criminals and malicious attacks that are taking place through real life examples with detailed information.NSS volunteers explained clearly about "Online Scammers" to the people. OnlineScammers are those who talks nicely and takes personal information such as bank credentials from opposite people through blackmailing them like: "I WILL LEAK OUR PERSONALCHATS etc. (which is commonly called as "Social Engineering") We expound about 3 major types of hackers, so that village people can get some basic idea: BLACK HAT HACKER – The one who performs illegal activities and crack systems. WHITE HAT HACKER – The one who performs only ethical activities that are completely legal and ethical. GAMING HACKER – The one who target online gamers and performs hacking. BLUE HAT HACKER – These are kind of "REVENGE SEEKERS" who performs hacking for personal egos and revenges. NSS volunteers explained people about basic types of cyber-attacks that are hugely taking place now-a-days, so that village people can be aware of such type of frauds:

PHISHING - It is an attack where an attacker sends the fake emails to people which includes:

EX: "YOU WON A LOTTERY AMOUNT OF $20,000", PLEASE SEND YOUR ACCOUNT DETAILS TO WITHDRAW THE CASH PRICE.

SPOOFING - It is an attack where an attacker performs hacking using voice changer apps and some resources, so that he can earn trust of opposite person (where opposite person believes it as a familiar voice and got call from a trusted source) and asks for personal and sensitive data, bank details etc.

With this program, NSS mainly encouraged village people to know about online scams and frauds in a very detailed manner with live examples.

The main objective of the NSS initiative towards "UPI TRANSACTIONS" is to let people know about it. Firstly, we wanted to show people in the village how to use UPI payments. Secondly, we aimed to explain why using UPI is beneficial. Thirdly, we were here to teach the locals how to do digital payments themselves. As NSS volunteers, we explained UPI payments in three simple steps which can easily be understood by the people in the village.

Teaching UPI Payments:

We spent time explaining how to use phones to send money instantly through UPI.

We showed them how to download and use apps that help with these transactions. We explained each step in a clear and easy way, making sure everyone understood. From adding bank accounts to making payments securely, we made sure they were comfortable with the process.

Explaining Benefits of UPI:

We talked about why using UPI is a good idea. We highlighted its advantages, like how it lets you send money quickly to anyone, anytime, without needing to go to a bank. We also mentioned that it's safe and doesn't cost much for transactions. Overall, we wanted to show how UPI can make handling money simpler and more convenient for them.

Training on Digital Payments:

Beyond just UPI, we showed them other ways to handle money digitally. We introduced them to mobile wallets and online banking, explaining how these tools can also make their lives easier. We provided hands-on training, letting them try out these methods themselves. By the end, they were more confident in using various digital payment options for their day-to-day transactions.

As the NSS team, we

Description	On 06-02-2024, National Service Scheme (NSS) has organized a campaign in "Vinjanampadu" village in order to bring awareness to the villagers on "SEASONAL DISEASES". As the villagers are been facing different kinds of problems in different seasons. NSS team had guided them the necessary precautions to be taken and to be aware among themselves without any health hazards. The main goal for the NSS team is raise awareness for the people about the different preventive measures that should be taken and explained the steps to be followed for not attaching of the diseases. We, NSS volunteers engaged with village people in a friendly manner and explained them in a clear way that they should take care of their health in a proper way and should follow some measures like vaccination, good hygiene practices avoiding close contact with sick individuals etc....and also explained clearly about the safety precautions to be followed and empowered the villagers with knowledge on nearly symptoms and when to seek medical assistance and taught them the steps to manage allergies which can help to reduce the risk of seasonal diseases. NSS volunteers has been interacted to the villagers and explained about these seasonal diseases such as Dengue fever, Malaria, Chikungunya and Common cold. The major impact has been increased the awareness levels among villagers regarding the symptoms and preventive measures of seasonal diseases which created a positive behavioural change in their hygiene practices and empowered the community members to take proactive measures in safeguarding their health and that of their families.

We, NSS team had given awareness on some of the diseases by which the village people are facing a lot of problems

1. Influenza (Flu): In temperate regions, flu season typically occurs during the fall and winter months. The flu virus thrives in colder temperatures and can spread easily in indoor environments where people are in close contact.
2. Common Cold: Like the flu, the common cold is more prevalent during the colder months. Rhinoviruses, which cause the majority of colds, spread more easily in lower temperatures.
3. Seasonal Allergies: Allergic rhinitis, commonly known as hay fever, is often triggered by pollen from trees, grasses, and weeds. Pollen levels tend to be higher in the spring and fall, leading to increased allergy symptoms during these seasons.
4. Respiratory Syncytial Virus (RSV): RSV infections, which can cause severe respiratory illness in young children and older adults, often peak in the fall and winter months.
5. Norovirus: This highly contagious virus, which causes gastrointestinal illness, tends to peak during the winter months. Cold weather may encourage people to stay indoors and in close contact with others, facilitating the spread of the virus.
6. Dengue Fever: Dengue fever is more common in tropical and subtropical regions, where it tends to peak during the rainy season when mosquito populations are higher.

We may conclude that the Seasonal Diseases Awareness Campaign which had been undertaken by the NSS team has played a vital role in equipping the villagers with knowledge and resources to combat prevalent health challenges. Moving forward, sustained efforts and community engagement will be essential in ensuring a healthier and resilient village population.
